AGARTALA,

14th February, 1966.

UMESH LAL SINGH,
M.L.A.

III

At the outset I would like to make it clear that the proposals finalised by the Commission has surprised and disappointed me more than the original proposals on which I submitted my suggestions* on 5th December, 1965. As I was not permitted to attend the meeting of the Commission held at Agartala on 21st December, 1965 I made a request to the Chief Electoral Officer, Tripura, for a copy of the minutes of that meeting. But it is unfortunate that no minutes were sent to me. While in the absence of such minutes, it is difficult to see what was the basis for the members of the Commission to make such drastic alterations in the original proposals, I consider it my duty to protest against the arbitrary attitude adopted at least in a number of cases, as pointed out hereafter.

Even after going through the final proposals, I feel constrained to say that the suggestions made by me on 5th December, 1965 were better, because they were based on some basic principles. While still hoping that the Commission will kindly give more attention to these suggestions, I would only point out here some of the unscrupulous methods followed in demarcating constituencies.

(a) The Commission while making Teliamura a constituency reserved for the Scheduled Castes, perhaps forgot that seats are reserved only to protect the interest of the weaker sections of the people. For, here, in this case, who can deny that the Scheduled Tribes who form 41.7 per cent of the population, are the weakest section of the people, compared to all other sections, including that of Scheduled Castes. Further, it is evidently clear that, if a tribal belt with population numbering 9,632 (all Tribals) under Teliamura Tehsil, which formerly belonged to Teliamura Assembly and adjacent to Teliamura proper, has not been separated from the proposed Teliamura Assembly constituency, then the strength of tribal population in this particular constituency would have been much more. The Commission forgot to note that Teliamura is such a compact Tribal area that it had to be constituted into a Tribal Development Block. What kind of democracy will it be if the Tribal people who are the weakest section of people in this Territory are even deprived to set up a candidate of their own in a constituency where they form more than 41 p.c. of the population. If it is argued that it could not be kept reserved for them, as the number of reserved seats are limited, the Commission could do justice to them keeping it open as a general seat, giving them an opportunity to contest.

As to making another seat reserved for scheduled castes, Agartala Sadar II which was originally proposed to be constituted as a Reserved seat for them, still happens to be the most suitable one for them. There is hardly any difference in the percentage of scheduled castes population between Teliamura and Agartala Sadar II. Secondly there is hardly any scheduled tribes population in this constituency. The percentage of Scheduled Castes in Teliamura is 20.09 and that of in Agartala Sadar II is 20.32. Further, a little adjustment with Bishalgarh can bring this percentage of Sadar II to a higher level.

(b) The second extraordinary thing has been to link up Chawmanu Tehsil of Kailashahar sub-division, with Kulaihowar constituency. Evidently, this has been done to level up the population of constituencies very mechanically without taking into consideration the difficult terrain of the area. Anybody having least knowledge of Kulaihowar and Chawmanu tensils, would admit that being spread out over the two highest hill-ranges of Atharamura and Longtarai, it will be humanly impossible for the candidate to cover up his area which have hardly any improved communication. This linking up betrays a very bureaucratic attitude towards the problems of elections in tribal areas.

But in the original proposals of the Commission Chawmanu was constituted as a separate constituency. It is not known why this proposal has been abandoned. The only conclusion that could be drawn is that partisan interest of the ruling party dominated while making these alterations.

(c) This conclusion gets strengthened if one looks at the way in which Dharmanagar sub-division has been given 4 seats. The Census report of 1961 shows that it was Khowai sub-division and not Dharmanagar that has the second highest population in Tripura. But as Khowai is the strongest base of the opposition whereas Dharmanagar is the strongest base of the ruling party, it was Dharmanagar who must get 4 seats. And in order to give it 4 seats, a part of Kanchanpur Tribal Development Block, and a large part of Kailashahar sub-division have been most arbitrarily snatched away, and tugged with Dharmanagar South constituency. Even after doing this, each of these 4 constituencies has no more than 35,000 population the lowest in Tripura.

If the suggestion put forward by me in respect of Kailashahar and Dharmanagar are accepted, these unjustifiable and whimsical delimitations can be avoided.

(d) What has been said about linking up of Chawmanu with Kulaihowar, could be repeated so far as delimitation of constituencies of Dumburnagar and Birjong are concerned. Though the entire topography is hilly and the population is spread out over a wide area, the Commission thought it wise to make the area of Dumburnagar wider through inclusion of areas which reach outskirts of Teliamura town. This is really fantastic. This has been done with no other purpose than that of reducing the tribal population of Teliamura constituency (9632 tribal population was separated from Teliamura constituency by this act of the Commission).

Similarly, villages from both Sabroom and Belonia have been brought within Birgonj constituency, though that constituency itself is bigger in size than most of the others.

As far as the reservation of Parliamentary seat for scheduled tribes is concerned, it appears from the finalised proposals, that the original proposal of the Commission remains. Moreover, with a large part of the tribal population of Radhakishorepur tehsil, Udaipur sub-division, being shifted to Takerjala constituency, Sadar sub-division, the tribal percentage in Tripura east constituency has further dwindled. This Radhakishorepur had been in the Tripura west constituency (general seat) during the last three successive general elections.

It is difficult to understand why Commission should adopt double standards while delimiting constituencies for scheduled castes and scheduled tribes. I have pointed out how the scheduled castes percentage of population of Teliamura was pushed up through making unjustified alterations. But, in delimiting the Parliamentary constituency to be reserved for tribal people, why should not the tribal percentage of the population be raised through inclusion of one of the scheduled tribes' Assembly Constituencies of Uttar Debendranagar or Takerjala, preferably Uttar Debendranagar and excluding Radhakishorepur, which are all contiguous to the constituencies that were included in Tripura East Parliamentary constituency.

As another detailed suggestion is now uncalled for, I would like to summarise my suggestions on the finalised proposals of the Commission as follows:

(a) The constituency of Teliamura, if necessary with minor adjustments, should be kept as a general constituency.

(b) The constituency of Agartala-Sadar II, if necessary with minor adjustments, should be reserved for scheduled castes.

(c) Kulaihowar, with necessary adjustments with Kamalpur should remain a reserved constituency for scheduled tribes and Chawmanu tehsil should not be linked up with it.

(d) Chawmanu tehsil with a part of Fatikroy tehsil as suggested by the Delimitation Commission in its earlier proposals should be constituted a separate constituency.

(e) There should be three constituencies in Dharmanagar sub-division as was suggested by me in my representation of the 5th December, 1965.

(f) Dumburnagar constituency should not be extended to such a large part of Teliamura tehsil and Birgonj constituency should not be extended to Belonia.

(g) In Tripura East Parliamentary constituency which has been reserved for scheduled tribes, either Uttar Debendranagar or Takeriala constituency. (both are reserved for Scheduled Tribes) and not Radhakishorepur should be included and preferably, Uttar Debendranagar.

While submitting these suggestions, I hope the Commission would kindly give serious consideration to them before these proposals are finally adopted by the Government.

Further, I would request you to circulate my note together with my earlier suggestions of the 5th December, 1965 among the members of the Commission including the Associate Members. In case the proposals of the Commission are finally adopted as they are, I would like that my suggestions go as a minute of dissent.

14th February, 1966.
